Grill Suspect on Police Murder in El Segundo

An investigation into the murder of two El Segundo policemen moved into Torrance Saturday, following the arrest of an armed man who was driving a car reported stolen in Hawthorne.

In custody is Norman Frederick Gagnon, 30, of 739 Borden Ave., who was apprehended Friday night in the downtown area when two patrolmen noticed that the license of his car was listed on their "hot sheet."

On the seat beside the suspect was an Italian automatic, which he said he had not seen before, officers said.

Torrance detectives said that the suspect will be questioned by El Segundo police on the year-old murder of two of their policemen.

Gagnon was arrested by Officers R. W. Jones and R. F. Nicolini in front of 1307 Cravens Ave.

Detectives said the suspect fits the physical description of the brutal gunman who shot the officers last year. He was held on suspicion of car theft, robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

Nurse in Guilty Plea to Sleep Pill Driving

An attractive nurse was granted probation by Municipal Judge Donald Armstrong Friday after she pleaded guilty to driving while under influence of a drug.

Marjori Ann Jensen, 27, employed at Harbor General Hospital, was released when she said she would leave the city at once and go back to Kansas.

Miss Jensen was arrested after she was involved in a three-car traffic collision at Madrona ave. and Sepulveda blvd. Monday.

Police said she appeared to be in a stupor, and quoted her as admitting that she had taken two sleeping pills less than three hours before the accident.

LOCAL BIDS SOUGHT

Bids for shelving and other cabinet work for the El Retiro Park Library will be sought locally. Architect Marion J. Varner was ordered to prepare plans and specifications so that the furnishings will be ready when the building is completed.

Vickers, Inc. to Be Welcomed as City Industry

Another "Blue Chip" Torrance industry will be honored at the Regular Monthly Membership meeting of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce July 15 at the Torrance YWCA Building, 2320 Carson ave.

Vickers, Inc., a top electronic firm, a division of the Sperry Rand Corporation, will be guests according to Co-chairmen T. C. Coleman and George A. Bradford.

J. R. Rae, plant manager, will explain his firm's local operation and a movie will be shown on the over-all activity of the Sperry-Rand Corporation, in the field of missiles, electronics, etc.

Mayor Albert Isen will present Rae with the traditional "Key to the City" and President O. R. Trueblood will formally hand over the gavel to President-Elect Fred W. Mill of The National Supply Company.

Room for 56,000 More Residents Seen in City

Torrance can expect an additional population of 56,000, if all land now zoned for residential and agricultural purposes is developed.

That was the conclusion of a report submitted by Planning Director George Powell, who also noted that this does not include 1,228 undeveloped acres held for industrial development.

If the estimate is added to the city's present population, now conceded to hover on the 100,000 mark, the population could easily increase by 50 per cent within the next few years, Powell's figures show.

Walteria Lake

However, his study includes as potential residential land such as as Walteria Lake, where inundation threats now cause a prohibition of building until flood relief is accomplished.

The survey, which was submitted to the City Council Tuesday, shows that 11,450 apartment units, and 5504 single family residences can be built on vacant land.

Using a figure of three persons per apartment unit, Powell figures that multi-family residences will bring a population of 34,377, while he estimates single family residence occupants at 22,016, based on a figure of three and one-half persons per home.

Industry Land

Powell further lists 3707 acres of industrially zoned land in Torrance. Of this amount, 1893 are presently developed, while 1814 are undeveloped, including 486 acres owned by the city in the airport zone.

Bert Lynn, president of the Planning Commission, announced that the commission is presently considering a proposal to rezone an area bounded by Monterey and Jefferson sts., Crenshaw blvd and Madrona ave., for rezoning from industrial to apartment use.

This, he said, would create a residential area near the Del Amo Shopping Center, and would also serve as a buffer strip between residential area of Monterey st., and industrial land south of Jefferson st.

Dio Pal Thwarted in Try To Form 'Paper' Union

Reject 'Paper' Union

Employees of a Torrance plant this week thwarted the efforts of a close associate of convicted labor racketeer Johnny Dio to establish a "paper" local here.

Workers of the Pacific Smelting Co., 22219 S. Western ave., rejected the bid of Anthony Doria, accused by the McClellan committee of "juggling" union funds while he was an official of the AFL-CIO Allied Industrial Workers, to form a local in the zinc smelting plant.

Ousted Official

Doria, according to the National Labor Relations Board, was ousted from the AFL-CIO union, and is now attempting to reestablish himself in the labor field with the National Federation of Craft and Industrial Workers.

"I guess we were the guinea pigs in the Los Angeles area," one Pacific Smelting official commented.

Employees at the local plant rejected the Doria union by a vote of 65 to 19. A total of 85 ballots were cast by the 91 eligible employees, NLRB officials said.

No Members

In making application for the election, Doria's union said it has no members and officers, no financial assets and no consultants and advisers.

Walter Seymour, listed as business agent for the union, attempted to organize the Torrance workers.

Pacific Smelting officials said that their election was the first attempt by Doria's union to organize a local in the Los Angeles area.

The company is not now represented by any union.

Del Amo Extension Requested

The Board of Supervisors will be asked to pave Del Amo blvd. from Hawthorne Blvd. to Western ave. to relieve congestions in Torrance's industrial heartland.

Councilman George Bradford said that the street should be extended and made usable in order that it may be used by trucks now traveling on city streets.

Del Amo is now not passable between Madrona ave. and Crenshaw, forcing vehicles to congest traffic near the American Standard plant at Crenshaw blvd., Bradford said.

He added that an improvement of the street will be made even more necessary by the development of an industrial tract between Maple and Crenshaw.

City officials announced this week that Magnavox intends to construct a plant to produce electronics equipment on the north side of Maricopa ave., between Fonthill and Elm sts. The company is seeking a 10-acre site for immediate building and an option on another 10 acres.

Fire Damages Garage

A fire, possibly due to spontaneous combustion, caused approximately $600 to the garage and contents owned by A. W. Lundberg of 118806 Fonthill Ave.

Firemen said that the blaze which broke out Thursday night, destroyed camping equipment stored in the garage.

NEAR COMPLETION—New underpass at Hawthorne Blvd. and 190th St. is scheduled to be completed Monday, according to S. K. Hoppe, State Division of Highways representative. Boulevard was opened to four separated lanes requiring complicated signal installation. Job which was slated for completion in April, was delayed three months, frequently causing traffic congestion. ## Tattooed Girl Assaults Policeman in Dance Brawl

A tattooed, female spiffire was jailed by Torrance police Friday night after a free-for-all in which a police officer was assaulted while attempting to place her under arrest.

Policeman Ed Boyce, who was hired as a special officer at a dance in the National Guard Armory, 2505 Cabrillo Ave., said he was bitten, struck and scratched by the 17-year-old girl.

The 107-pound bundle of dynamite exploded at Boyce after he attempted to separate her from a man who had knocked her to the ground outside the armory.

While Boyce attempted to help her to her feet, she deliberately tore his uniform cap into shreds and ripped off his uniform buttons, he reported.

The girl, who had tattoos on her chin and wrists, was finally subdued and booked on suspicion of malicious mischief, battery and disturbing the peace charges.

Water Supply Adequate

No major emergency in water supply is seen this year, as consumption rises with hot weather.

Angus McVicar, water superintendent, said that new lines have been installed during the past year, which he believes will carry sufficient supply to residences.

"I think we have cured most of the problems in the southwest section. We've spent quite a bit of money installing lines, and a 24-inch Metropolitan feed line was connected last month," he said.

"Unless we get a terrifically hot day, we're over the worst of it," McVicar said.

The superintendent said that the pressure has not gone down more than 10 pounds due to additional use of water during the warmer weather.

If worst came to worst, he added, use of water would have to be staggered so that everybody uses it at the same time.

Boys Try to Set Fire to Church

An arson investigation was triggered Thursday when juvenile vandals attempted to set fire to St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 255th st. and Eshelman ave.

Deputy sheriffs said that a passing motorist observed two youths hurling a lighted railroad flare on the roof of the Lomita church.

City's Value up $25,000,000 in Tax Assessments

Torrance is worth $25,000,000 more than it was last year, but taxpayers will have to shell out as much as last year.

The city's assessed valuation this year was set at $169,271,540. Last year it was $144,000,000.

These are the figures on which the city tax rate, presently at $1.224 per $100 assessed valuation, is set.

The figures for utilities and contested assessments have not been listed.

BUILDING REPORT

A report on school construction and information on the proposed $15,000,000 bond issue will be made July 14 to the Torrance Educational Advisory Committee, when it meets at noon at the YWCA.

House Rents Fast With Quick Result From Press Ad

Renting his home was no problem for H. M. Rapstad, after he ran a classified ad in the Torrance Press Thursday.

The three-bedroom house at 920 Patroneilla was rented the same afternoon with 10 calls received that day and the phone still ringing on Friday.

You, too, can have quick results if you call an ad-taker at the Torrance Press, FA 8-5310, and let her help you with your buying, selling or renting problems.

Steve Bilko, Dodger Players To Hold Baseball Clinic

Torrance will not only have its night at the Los Angeles Dodgers vs Philadelphia "Phillies" baseball game on Saturday, July 19, but also plans a baseball clinic for all interested youths of the South Bay area, featuring Steve Bilko and other Dodger stars.

The clinic will be held at the Torrance Municipal Park, at Arlington & Santa Fe, starting at 10 a.m. and ending at 11 a.m. July 19. Everyone, especially kid baseballers, will be admitted free!

Chairman George Vico of the sponsoring Torrance Chamber of Commerce, himself an ex-major league star, said that Bilko, the famous "slugger," and at least ten other Dodger name players, will exhibit the proper form for all youthful baseball hopefuls.

Tickets continue to move at a tremendous pace for "Torrance Night" at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Reserved seat tickets are on sale at $2.50 at the Chamber Office, 1345 El Prado. Groups of six children, 8-17 inclusive, will be admitted free to a special general admission section, if accompanied by an adult. The adult will also be admitted free but reservations must first be made at the Chamber office or by calling FA. 8-2814.

Bus transportation will leave the Chamber at 6 p.m. and roundtrip reservations, at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children (8-17), should be made in advance also at the Chamber office.

Torrance will not only have its night at the Los Angeles Dodgers vs Philadelphia "Phillies" baseball game on Saturday, July 19, but also plans a baseball clinic for all interested youths of the South Bay area, featuring Steve Bilko and other Dodger stars.

Jury Told Beatings By Pair

Two Torrance brothers who claimed they were victims of Long Beach police brutality, were acquitted of drunk charges but fined $100 on disorderly conduct charges Friday night.

Richard L. Johnson, 27, and his brother, Donald, 26, both of 22133 Redbeam ave., and Richard Tardaguila, 25, of Gardens, claimed during their trial that they were beaten by Long Beach officers who arrested them June 1.

Richard Johnson said he was knocked out four times by a policeman in the parking lot of a Long Beach cafe where they had gone to take pictures of Don Johnson's estranged wife, Carolyn.

Richard Johnson testified that they were again struck while in a police car on the way to the police station.

A resident physician at Seaside Memorial Hospital testified that Don Johnson was not intoxicated when he was brought in for treatment of a cut chin.

The jury, which deliberated for more than four hours, found the trio guilty of a disorderly conduct charge, but acquitted them of the intoxication count.

Municipal Judge Lyman Sutter placed them on probation for a year and fined them $100 each.

The police officers named by the defendants in the misdemeanor jury trial denied they had been guilty of brutality.

Teenage Efforts Find Jobs

A group of vacationing high school students are working hard trying to find work for other teenagers.

They are the youngsters who have revived the Youth Employment Service designed to find jobs for students.

Between 75 and 100 teenagers have filled out applications seeking any type of work which will get them a few dollars.

During the past two weeks since the service was launched by Priscilla Beasley, 17, five or six students have been placed.

But the going is rough.

Make Jobs

"The jobs have to be made," says Priscilla, a student at North High School.

She explained that many adults are looking for permanent employment and the best of the untrained youngsters can hope for are part time or fill-in jobs in small business establishments.

Consistent phone solicitations among merchants have uncovered some jobs such as typing, filing and reception.

"We found one job on a worm farm, to pick worms for bait," Priscilla said. "There also are some jobs coming up at the rodeo, working concessions."

Sponsors Effort

She said that Herma Tillim, who operates an employment agency, is more or less sponsoring the teenagers' effort, and lets them use space at her office, 1628 Gramercy Place.

"When someone gets a job through us, we expect him to put in an hour a week trying to locate other jobs," Priscilla said.

She said the Coordinating Council recently offered to help locate jobs, and expects that the Youth Employment Service will continue when school starts again.

BOYS STEAL CAR

Three youths were turned over to deputy sheriffs after they were captured by Torrance policeman Al Winkler.

The officer said the youths attempted to flee in a stolen car. They abandoned the vehicle after he ordered them to stop, and fled on foot at 168th st. and Prairie ave.
